Thank you for your interest in submitting an abstract for the 2023 SOPHE Annual Conference in Atlanta. This guide provides information and instructions on how to accurately submit your abstract. We look forward to your submission.

The 2023 SOPHE Annual Conference on March 21-24 in Atlanta, is an inclusive opportunity for anyone who plays a role in the health education profession. The annual conference offers various learning experiences and opportunities to connect with colleagues and friends.

The New Age of Civil Rights, Advocacy & Equity

Educational Tracks

Leadership, Mentoring and Training the Next Workforce

The Health Promotion profession provides opportunities for growth and professional development through mentorship, preparedness, and continuing education while focusing on best practices in pedagogical procedures and techniques. Abstracts are invited that demonstrate current evidence-supported best practices for cultivating the next generation of health promotion professionals and how they can advance civil rights and ways that public health education and professional development can mitigate discrimination.

Social Justice and Health Equity

A social justice approach to health education and promotion guides us to work towards creating equity to improve public health. Addressing social determinants will help us move toward achieving health equity. However, what is missing from social determinants models is an explicit recognition that discriminatory systems based on racism and other forms of prejudices have historically helped create inequities in public health. This track calls for abstracts that present evidence of racism and other prejudices as a social determinant and approaches to reduce racism through health education and promotion practice. Abstracts can also focus on addressing social determinants and using inclusive practices as a foundation for increasing health equity and improving health outcomes for vulnerable, underserved, and/or diverse populations.

Policy, Advocacy, and Communications

This sub-theme addresses how the sciences of systems change, communications, and advocacy can have broad impact on health outcomes. Topics could include marketing and technology solutions for populations and how broad evidenced-based policies and work to change policies can contribute to health at the local, state, national and global levels. Abstracts related to health communication theory and practice, risk communication, culturally tailored communication, health promotion and health literacy are invited. We encourage abstracts that address both leading-edge research and practical application in the field.

Emerging Issues in Research Translation & Implementation

This sub-theme addresses the cutting edge of science and health and how health education can help to translate research to practice in emerging issues and help to address emerging issues effectively in real time. The focus will be on how we “get ahead of the curve” with emerging issues. We seek examples of how health promotion can be a critical player in assuring that new potentials and challenges are met with strong and innovative theory, strategic approaches, and robust evaluation in implementation research. Topics could include: driving toward successful health outcomes through information science and practice-based evidence, implementation science in domestic and global settings, integration of evaluation and continuous improvement models into our work with complex problems, building on the science of forecasting, ensuring that health education is at the table when current and emerging health issues are addressed and learning from global health work.

Abstract Criteria

Selected through an open call to all SOPHE members and health education professionals, hundreds of volunteers act as peer reviewers anonymously scoring abstracts within their area(s) of expertise. Diverse peer input is important in shaping the conference sessions. Abstract submissions will be reviewed by 3-4 peer-reviewers based on the following criteria:

1. Relationship to conference theme: Does the abstract relate to the theme and the chosen track?
2. Objectives: Are the learning objectives clearly stated as SMART; Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant, and Time-Bound?
3. Originality: Is the abstract original work and hasn’t been presented before?
4. Sound conceptual framework: Does the abstract include a clearly stated background/rationale related to its objectives?
5. Methodology/Description: Is the purpose clearly and concisely described? Is the methodology or practice description clearly stated and appropriate for the research or practice?
6. Innovative and Action-focused: Does the abstract represent usefulness and innovation to the field of health education? Does it inspire action to generate results?
7. Program Design: Is the abstract well-written and the content is clear? Does it clearly outline what the presentation will be? Is it presented in an organized and structured manner? Don’t underestimate the importance of instructional flow and design. The best learning environments are collaborative and use a solution-based approach to a problem.
8. Free of Commercial Bias: All abstract submissions must be educational in nature, neutral and unbiased. SOPHE policy requires potential presenters to disclose any proprietary, financial, professional, or other personal interests in the material to be presented. Any abstract that is not free of commercial bias will not be accepted. If accepted, those in violation of this policy may forfeit any speaking opportunities.

Internet Browser and Technology Requirements

You will need to use the following browsers to submit your abstract, Chrome, Fire Fox, or Safari.
Key Information

Like the communities across the country, SOPHE is made up of health education professionals that represent different races, ethnicities, genders, educational backgrounds, vocations, ages, ... and more. As you submit your abstract, we encourage you to be inclusive in your selection of presenters to reflect the diversity that contributed to the information you intend to share.

- SOPHE will only communicate with submitting authors. We ask that submitting authors pass all notifications and updates to any co-authors. If a co-author will be presenting, please state they are a presenting author in the abstract submission.

- Presenters will be limited to one presentation. SOPHE seeks diversity of thought and speakers. Each presenter will be limited to presenting or co-presenting one presentation only. Be cautious about how many abstracts you are the submitting author or listed as a co-presenter. Exceptions include pre-conference sessions, or poster presentations, which in these cases a presenter can present up to two presentations. The planning committee will ensure inclusion and fairness, so a diverse group of thought leaders are selected for presentations.

- Work previously published online or presented at a national conference will not be accepted.

- Submission of multiple abstracts that present the same data in different ways is also prohibited and will result in the abstract(s) being rejected.

- SOPHE especially encourages practitioners and students to submit abstracts. These submissions will be peer-reviewed, using the same criteria as all other submissions and if accepted for presentation, are bound by the same agreements as all other submissions.

- All accepted abstract presenters and co-presenters must register for the conference. Registration will open in October.

Step 1a: Sign in or create a MySOPHE account

A MySOPHE account is required to submit an abstract submission. In addition to the submitting author, all co-authors are also required to have a MySOPHE account to be added to an abstract submission.

You must login to your MySOPHE account to view/submit an abstract. If you do not have an account, please create a free MySOPHE account.

In your user account, please ensure that your name, title, credentials, organization or university degrees, certifications and email are current. Upload a current photo [high resolution min. 300 dpi]. This information is important – it is used for conference materials if your abstract is accepted.
Step 1b: Review the Session Type Descriptions

*Be sure your choice(s) are reflected in your abstract summary. You can rank order of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd session type. This information is taken into consideration when finalizing the sessions and how they best fit in the conference program.

Step 2a: Create New Abstract Submission

Go to the SOPHE 2023 Call for Abstracts submission page.

Click on, “Create New” and then add your preferred presentation method of you are the presenting/submitting author or co-author and the educational track. After creating an abstract submission, you are directed to Step 2b, to complete (3) sections under the document tab; see General Questions, Abstract Information and Disclosure.
Step 2b: Update the Document Sections (General, Abstract, and Disclosures)

After you have completed/saved the "DOCUMENT" page and are ready to submit, click on the "HOME" page and press the "SUBMIT ABSTRACT" button on the right side of the page. (No additional edits or changes can be made after an abstract is submitted.)
General Information: Once the abstract is submitted, you cannot edit the following responses:

- Are you currently a full-time student?
- Session type: Choose your top 3 choices by order of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd choice.
- If you are not selected for a presentation, would you be willing to present your abstract as a poster?

Abstract Information and Continuing Education Requirements: Once your abstract is submitted, you cannot edit the following responses:
